

Vision Software Training

Have you ever wanted to lock out student computers in a computer lab from surfing the Internet during instruction, take control of a student's machine or share your screen with your students? If so, this is a must class for you.

Vision Software is used to:

- manage student computer use
- share your screen with the class during instruction
- take control of students machines to help with a problem
- lock/unlock student computers entirely
- lock/unlock Internet surfing from student computers
- start a program on student computers
- chat with a student
- send files to student machines
- wake up and power down student computers