Brief Proposal Description:

A Student Affairs track would be a new academic program providing semi-professional staff to support undergraduate students. Graduate assistants in student affairs divisions such as career services, housing and residential life, orientation, parent programs, and student activities will be increasingly valuable as the university reaches its enrollment and retention goals, specifically by helping offset the cost of otherwise needed new professionals. Further, this involvement, supported by classroom experiences, prepares graduates students with valuable and extremely competitive experiences for future employment.

A Student Affairs track complements the growth and expansion of a Higher Education program, allowing enrollees in the former to focus on academic management, while the later to focus on student development. (1) The proposed track, coupled with competitive graduate assistantships would attract new students who would otherwise not apply. This is evidenced by the questions and requests for information VSU staff receive when recruiting graduate assistants at national conferences. (2) Research consistently demonstrates student affairs professionals aid in the retention of students though advising, mentoring, and programming. The proposed track adds additional personnel, at a significant cost savings over full-time professionals, who work directly in areas supporting students. (3) A curricular requirement for students in the proposed track is a research internship, distinguishing the program from all but a select few in the country. Publication and grant submissions will enhance the university's reputation and help establish the prestige of the program.
