Degree and Program Name: Masters of Accountancy

Present Requirements: n/a There is no existing MAcc dismissal policy.

Proposed Requirements: (highlight changes after printing) The MAcc Dismissal Policy will provide for automatic dismissal if a student accumulates more than three (3) deficiency points based on the following scale:

- A = 0
- B = 0
- C = 1
- D = 2
- W/F or F = 3
- U = 2

A student may appeal the dismissal decision within 30 days of grades being posted on the Valdosta State University Banner system. The form for appeals is available on the VSU Graduate School website at: http://www.valdosta.edu/gradschool/appeals.shtml#A

Graduate students who wish to appeal a dismissal must first discuss the issue with their professor. Further appeals are then directed, in order, to their professor's Department Head, Director of the MAcc program, Dean of the Langdale College, and Vice President of Academic Affairs/Provost.

Justification:

- □ Improving Student Learning Outcomes
- □ Adopting Current Best Practice(s) in Field
- □ Meeting Mandates of State/Federal/Outside Accrediting Agencies
- □ Other Establish a dismissal policy for the program.

Source of Data to Support Suggested Change:

- □ Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc.
- □ Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) Evaluation of policies from other VSU programs.
Plan for assessing the effectiveness of the change in meeting program's learning outcomes (i.e., how do these changes fit within the current program assessment plan and what sorts of data will be collected and evaluated to determine if these changes are meeting stated program outcomes?).

Data Sources:

☐ Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc.
☐ Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.)

Dear Academic Committee,

The criminal justice faculties would like to request that the deactivation of CRJU 7910, approved at the October 17, 2011 Academic Committee meeting, be rescinded. This course was just reactivated effective fall 2011 and it is a core course in the Masters of Criminal Justice Applied track. We ask that the current catalogue entry be utilized in subsequent catalogues.

Respectfully,

Faculties of the Criminal Justice Program

Justification:

Select one or more of the following to indicate why the requested change will be beneficial, giving your justification. Include and/or append relevant supporting data.

☑ Improve student learning outcomes: The addition of REL 2010 is a change based on program assessment in the Fall 2011 which suggested a need to strengthen student learning outcomes in interpretation and analysis. New advising sheets will be created for both tracks. Philosophy track students will be advised and required to take six hours of philosophy in Area F (PHIL 2010 and PHIL 2030). Religious Studies track students will be advised and required to take REL 2010 and REL 2020.

☑ Adopting current best practice(s) in field:

☑ Meeting mandates of state/federal/outside accrediting agencies: The addition of PHIL 2030 allows the Philosophy & Religious Studies program to satisfy the BOR requirement for 5 to 9 hours of PHIL courses in Area F for the philosophy track.

☐ Other:

Source of Data to Support Suggested Change:
Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. SOIs, student surveys, and alumni surveys

Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) Exams and papers

Plan for assessing the effectiveness of the change in meeting program's learning outcomes (i.e., how do these changes fit within the current program assessment plan and what sorts of data will be collected and evaluated to determine if these changes are meeting stated program outcomes?).

Data Sources:

Indirect measures: SOIs; student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. student surveys--exit survey given to graduating seniors

Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) Exams and papers will be collected for use in the assessment of papers and presentations using rubrics. The addition of these new courses will allow the department to compare entry level courses with upper division and capstone courses.

SYLLABUS

Ethics and Contemporary Society

Dr. Ari Santas

PHIL-2030

Course Description:
An introduction to the philosophical study of morality, including the theory of right and wrong behavior, the theory of value (goodness and badness), and the theory of virtue and vice. The course will discuss the primary questions addressed within moral philosophy as well as require students to develop and reflect upon their own ethical positions, and think critically and analytically about ethical issues.

Course Learning Outcomes (Objectives):
- to develop a meaningful conception of ethics (D3)
- to develop and understanding of the intellectual heritage of contemporary society (D3)
- to develop skills in reading, writing, and speaking critically (D2)
- to develop skills in cooperative education and collaborative action (D3)

Required Texts:

There will also be online reading selections to supplement course texts.

Office Hours:
My office is located on the 2nd floor of the Brown House (102 Georgia Ave.) The times you may find me there are M-F 11:00-12:00. You can reach me there or leave a message at 333-5949. You can also reach me through e-mail at osantos@v woodland.edu

Special Needs:
Students requesting classroom accommodations or modifications because of a documented disability must contact the Access Office for Students with Disabilities located in Farber Hall. The phone numbers are 245-2498 (voice) and 219-1348 (tty).

Grades:
Grades will be determined on the following basis:
- weekly quizzes (25%)
- group projects/reports (25%)
- participation and attendance (25%)
- final project (25%)

Participation and Attendance:
Attendance is required. I will be taking roll every day and assign part of your grade on the basis of how many days missed.
The rest of your participation grade will be determined partly by your peers, and partly by me. What I'll be looking for, besides regular attendance, and encourage each of you to look for as well, are the following:
- conscientious class presentations
- contribution to discussion
- effort to improve and grow
- attentiveness* to the course materials and to each other
- responsible attitude towards learning
- respectful treatment of your peers

Cell Phones:
Cell phones are thieves of attention and attentiveness. I do not allow their use in my classes. They are to be silenced and not used during class time. If you have an emergency that requires the use of one, you must step out of the room. If I must remind you of this, you will be asked to leave the class and it will affect your course grade.
Group Work:
Although some of your work will be done individually, much of the work you do in this class will be done in groups. See my Guidelines web page for rationale and suggestions for making this system work for you.
http://www.valdosta.edu/~asantas/Study/guide.html (Section IV)
And remember, a third of your participation grade will come from your group-mates.

Readings:
The readings will often be difficult so it is important that you read the material carefully, and most often, two or three times. Check out the reading guidelines at the Guidelines page (http://www.valdosta.edu/~asantas/Study/guide.html) before your first reading assignment. If you have special difficulties with any of the readings, do not hesitate to ask me about it, either during class or office hours. (Actually, if you don't have any questions, that probably means you didn't read it carefully enough!)

Study Questions and Quizzes:
There will be regular in-class and/or take-home quizzes (generally once a week). Unless otherwise indicated, the quizzes will be done in your small groups. These will be typically open book and based on your readings, classroom activities, and study questions provided for you online.

All study questions can be found at my Course Index:
http://www.valdosta.edu/~asantas/2030 Index.htm

Small Group Projects and Reports:
For each author's text, I shall give you a take-home project, which you and your group will have at least a week to complete. Each group will arrange with me individually the work to be completed for these projects. On these assignments you will be graded collectively, so take heed to the comments listed above and below. Again, my ultimate criterion of evaluation is that of informing and/or convincing one's peers. Essays will be graded using the following criteria:

- Clarity and Development (grammar, structure, style)
- Command of Material (completeness, accuracy)
- Critical Reasoning (originality, logic, imagination)

All assignments can be found at my main Course Index. http://www.valdosta.edu/~asantas/2030 Index.htm

For more details on writing and oral reports, see also the Guidelines webpage linked to the same course index.
http://www.valdosta.edu/~asantas/Study/guide.html

Final Projects:
The final project of the term will be a choice between a group project and a final essay. The group project can able to take a variety of forms, but will likely be a short film project. In any case it will require you to communicate something we have learned together during the course of the term to an audience outside of the classroom. Students not wishing to participate in this final group project can opt to write a final essay instead. Details for both project options will be posted on the Course Index.
http://www.valdosta.edu/~asantas/2030 Index.htm

Academic Dishonesty and Plagiarism:
The VSU Student Code of Conduct in the Student Handbook states:

Plagiarism is prohibited. Themes, essays, term papers, tests, and other similar requirements must be the work of the student submitting them. When direct quotations are used, they must be indicated, and when the ideas of another are incorporated in the paper they must be appropriately acknowledged. (p. 59)

Anyone found guilty of academic dishonesty—offering someone else's work as their own—will receive an 'F' in the course. In addition, current VSU policy dictates that all instances be reported to the administration for disciplinary action.

Philosophical Themes in Film

Course Description:

This course will explore through film some of the most vexing questions of philosophy and identity theory—Who Am I? How Do I Know Who (or What) I Am? What is Choice? What is Character? What (or Who) Defines Me? Using epistemological, socio-political and ethical theories from the history of philosophy, we will focus on the following three themes: Identity, Memory & the Deceiver(s); Identity, Fate & Choice; Constructed Identities (e.g., race, gender, sexuality, etc.)

Course Learning Outcomes (Objectives):

- to explore, through film and discussion, major socio-political, ethical, and epistemological themes (D1, D3)
- to develop skills in finding philosophical and ethical themes in film (D1)
- to develop critical writing skills in philosophy and film (D2)

Office Hours:

My office is located on the 2nd floor of the Brown House (102 Georgia Ave.) The times you may find me there are M-F 10:00-11:00. You can reach me there or leave a message at 333-5949. You can also reach me through e-mail at asantas@valdosta.edu

Grades:

Grades will be based on class participation and the writing assignments as follows:

- Writing Assignment(s) 75%
- Participation 25%

Texts:

Mary M. Litch, Philosophy Through Film, 2nd ed. (Routledge, 2010)

There will also be online reading selections and notes made available through my course resources page.
Participation and Attendance:

Your "Participation" grade will be based on attendance and discussion. The first part will be determined by how many days you miss. You can make up an absence by viewing the film selection on your own and writing a 2-3 page summary and commentary on the selection on the day missed. The second part will be an assessment by me of the quantity and quality of your contribution to class discussion. The criteria I'll be using on the second part are these:

- regular attendance
- contribution to discussion
- effort to improve and grow
- attentiveness to the course materials and to each other
- respectful treatment of your peers
- responsible attitude towards learning

Writing Assignments:

There will be two options for written work:

Option I: Submit three papers, one for each theme of the course. Deadlines are on the Course Schedule. Each of the three papers should:

- be 4-5 double-spaced typed or word-processed pages (12 pt. font) in length
- discuss the philosophical theme for that week (using online notes and class materials (including discussion);
- discuss at least two or three films from the given theme;
- draw some sort of critical conclusion(s) (i.e., tell me what you think—and don’t make this an afterthought!)

Option II: Submit one major paper as a term paper, focusing on one or more of the themes we discussed in class. In writing this paper, you should:

- write 8-10 pages, double-spaced typed or word-processed (12 pt. font)
- develop at length the given theme and draw your own conclusions
- submit a rough draft to me after the first week (see schedule)
- submit a second, complete, draft after the 2nd week (see schedule)

Philosophy of Happiness

PHI-3900

Course Description:
An in-depth examination of the philosophy of happiness, drawing from the work of contemporary applied philosophy and classic historical figures, from antiquity to the modern era.

Course Learning Outcomes (Objectives):
- to learn some of the key elements in the philosophy of happiness (D1)
- to understand the historical approaches to the fundamental problems in human happiness (D1)
- to develop critical thinking skills with respect to one's personal conception of a good life (D2,3)

Required Texts:

There will also be texts and readings available online through my Philosophy of Happiness Course Index: http://www.valdosta.edu/~asantas/Happiness%20Index.htm

Office Hours:
My office is located in 216 Ashley Hall. The times you may find me there are daily at 11:00-12:00. You can reach me there or leave a message at 333-5949. You can also reach me through e-mail at asantas@valdosta.edu

Grades:
Final grades will be determined on the basis of weekly journal entries, projects/presentations, class participation, and your term project. Here’s the breakdown:

- Projects/Presentations (50%)
- Participation (25%)
- Term Project (25%)

Special Needs:
Students requesting classroom accommodations or modifications because of a documented disability must contact the Access Office for Students with Disabilities located in room Farber Hall. The phone numbers are 245-2498 (voice) and 219-1348 (tty).

Participation and Attendance:
Attendance is required. I will be taking roll every day and assign part of your grade on the basis of how many days missed. What I’ll be looking for, besides regular attendance, are the following:

- conscientious class presentations
- effort to improve and grow
- responsible attitude towards learning

- contribution to discussion
- attentiveness to the course materials and to each other
- respectful treatment of your peers

Cell Phones:
Cell phones are thieves of attention and attentiveness. I do not allow their use in my classes. They are to be silenced and no texting should be conducted during class time. If you must make use of one, you must step out of the room. If I must remind you of this, you will be asked to leave the class and it will significantly affect your participation grade.
Projects and Presentations:
Every student will be assigned chapters from the main texts and supplemental readings to present to me and the class in some form or fashion. Format details and specific assignments will be worked out early in the term. See main Course Index for Presentation Schedule.

Term Projects:
You will be working on your term project throughout the term. The topic of the paper will be your personal “Philosophy of Happiness.” You will be asked to offer a new “take” on your conception of happiness after each major unit of the course. The final product will also have an oral component. See Class Schedule for all deadlines.

Happiness Symposium: At the end of the term our class will sponsor a symposium in which we will showcase the best essays of the class and possibly invite outside speakers as well. Details will be discussed as the term progresses.

Academic Dishonesty and Plagiarism:
The VSU Student Code of Conduct in the Student Handbook states:

Plagiarism is prohibited. Themes, essays, term papers, tests, and other similar requirements must be the work of the student submitting them. When direct quotations are used, they must be indicated, and when the ideas of another are incorporated in the paper they must be appropriately acknowledged. (p. 59)

Anyone found guilty of academic dishonesty—offering someone else’s work as their own—will receive an ‘F’ in the course.

Final Note:
This document is not a contract and is subject to change as needed to meet course objectives.

Introduction to Religion and Culture

REL 2010

Michael Stoltzfus, Ph.D.
Fall 2012

Course Description: An analysis of how different religions respond to a variety of human issues such as marriage and family, war and peace, gender roles, poverty, child labor, and increasing globalization.

Course Overview: In this class we will analyze how different religions (including Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Buddhism, Daoism, Hinduism and others) respond to a variety of practical, real-life dilemmas using the medium of cross-cultural case studies. We will investigate how distinctive religious and cultural traditions address issues of marriage and family, war and peace, gender roles, poverty, child labor, and other important moral issues associated with increasing globalization. We will discover the penetrating interconnections and intricate tensions that exist between religious pluralism, cultural diversity, and concrete moral problems. This course will begin by investigating how practical wisdoms and spiritual insights are routinely integrated in everyday life circumstances. We will seek to address two critical questions: What is the role of religion in helping to create a more just and peaceful world? What is the role of religion in helping to shape a more violent and anxious world?

Special Services Information: Students requesting classroom accommodations or modifications due to a documented disability must contact the Access Office for Students with Disabilities located in Farber Hall. The phone numbers are 245-2498.

Cell Phone Policy: Cell phones and other wireless distraction devices should be neither seen nor heard in the classroom setting. If I see or hear a cell phone during official class hours, then I maintain the option of confiscating the phone for a twenty-four hour period. Confiscated phones may be picked up in Ashley Hall room 109 (via departmental secretary) at the appropriate time. Please keep cell phones removed from the classroom.

Course Outcomes
1. Students will engage in independent research and writing
2. Students will think critically about religion and culture
3. Students will learn basic themes in religious studies
4. Students will be exposed to religious and moral pluralism through cross-cultural case studies
5. Students will link religion with important issues in cultural development, ethical analysis and social transformation

Texts
2. Ethics and World Religions: Cross-Cultural Case Studies. Regina Wolfe and Christine Gudorf, eds.  (required text).

Class Requirements and Grading

Class attendance and participation (20% of course grade). You are expected to attend class, participate in class discussions, and bring your reading reflection paper to class each Wednesday. You are permitted one unexcused absence in this course. For each additional unexcused absence two percentage points will be subtracted from your final grade. You are expected to be punctual, attentive, courteous, and involved.

Reading quizzes (20% of course grade). At the beginning of each class Wednesday (weeks 2-15) there will be short quizzes that cover the reading material for that week. If you read the assigned material, then these quizzes should not be too difficult. You may not make-up these quizzes if you are late to class or miss a class session.

Reading reflection papers (20% of course grade). Each reflection should be typed and double-spaced in 12 point font and no more than two pages in length. You are required to write six reflection papers between weeks 2-10 of the semester. You may choose which weeks to write your papers. They are due at the end of class on Wednesdays. No reflection papers will be accepted after week 10. You should begin each paper with two questions arising from the readings that you would like the class to address.

Your first four paper options (weeks 2-5) should focus on the Religious Pluralism and Moral Choice book. Each week you will be assigned multiple chapters to read. Your papers should focus on one of the assigned chapters. I am looking for four things in these papers: 1) Two questions arising from your reading of the chapter that you would like the class to address; 2) summarize the core argument(s) or content of the chapter; 3) articulate at least one strength and one weakness evident in the chapter from your own perspective; 4) offer at least one constructive ethical proposal regarding the problems or issues presented in the chapter from your own perspective.

Your last five paper options (weeks 6-10) should be divided into five sections and address one of the assigned case studies by responding to the following five questions: 1) Two questions arising from the case that you would like the class to address 2) What are the basic ethical issues being addressed in the case study? 3) Which of the two religious and ethical responses to the case study do you like best and why? 4) Imagine yourself in the shoes of those effected by the case study, how would you respond given the context? 5) Based on our reading of Religious Pluralism and Moral Choice, what elements of Maguire’s “wheel model” are stressed in the response you liked best? Which elements of his model are ignored?

4. Research Paper (20% of course grade). You are required to write an 8-10 page (typed and double spaced) research paper on any relevant topic of your choosing. Pick something that interests you and that is relevant to your major area of study. You must adhere to the following schedule as you research and write your paper:

1. Submit a written topic by September 21
2. Submit a written bibliography (at least ten sources—five must be academic journal articles) and outline by October 12
3. Submit a final draft of your paper on or before November 2
4. Submit a final draft on or before December 3

Class Presentations (10% of course grade). All students will be presenting elements of their research to the class during the last four weeks of the semester. The content of your oral presentation will coordinate with the material in your research paper.

Course Schedule

Week 1. Introduction to Course:
Read: Maguire, preface & 3-62.

Week 2. Religion and Moral Questioning: Thinking and Probing
Read: Maguire, 65-124.

Week 3. Religion and Moral Action: Feelings, Creativity, Principles

Women and Gender in Early Christianity

Valdosta State University – Fall Semester 2012

Lectures: Tuesdays & Thursdays 2:00-3:15 pm
Location: West Hall 147

Instructor: Dr. Lily Vuong
Email: lcvuong@valdosta.edu
Office: Ashley Hall 103
Office Hours: Mondays and Wednesday 1:00-3:00 pm or by appointment
Phone: 229-249-4959

Course Description: A study of images and representations of women and gender in the New Testament and other early Christian texts including “apocrypha,” “pseudepigrapha,” and Gnostic writings with special attention paid to historical and contemporary significance.

Content and Course Objectives:

This course investigates and considers images of women and gender in the New Testament and other early Christian texts including “apocrypha,” “pseudepigrapha,” and Gnostic writings, with special attention paid to their historical and contemporary significance. (Although we will focus on primarily Greek and Latin representations of women in the Christian tradition, Eastern expressions will also be considered). We will ask what these ancient, literary representations of women and femininity might reveal to us about the experiences and voices of “real” women and discuss the ways in which early Christian traditions about women may have impacted understandings of gender in Western culture. Examination of the variety of images and symbols of the feminine used in early Christian literature (e.g., images of the feminine to describe the Divine) will also be addressed. We will employ a variety of approaches to explore the early Christian views of women and gender including feminist, literary, historical, socio-cultural, and theological.

Course Outcomes:

1. Students will explain and interpret the tradition of Christianity
2. Students will apply critical and analytical skills in analyzing images and representations of women and gender in early Christianity.
3. Students will create independent research using current methods and approaches.
4. Students will demonstrate a working familiarity with current research methods.
5. Students will identify and evaluate their own self-understanding in the context of the pluralism that informs this course.

Required Texts:
- HarperCollins Study Bible with Apocrypha or Oxford Study Bible with Apocrypha
- Additional Readings will be available on reserve or in class.

Requirements and Evaluation:

1. Attendance & Participation: 10%
   Due: Every Class! ☺
2. Journal Responses: 20%
   Due: According to Selection
3. Short Exam 1 15%
   Due: Thurs, September 30, 2010
4. Presentations: 15%
   Due: According to Sign-Up
5. Short Exam 2 15%
   Due: Tues, November 23, 2010
6. Final Paper: 25%
   Due: Tues, December 6, 2010

Participation (10%):

Class preparation, attendance, and participation in class are an integral part of your learning in this course. Since the nature of an introduction class requires us to cover a substantial amount of material over a short period of time, it is critical that you attend all classes. Missing more than three classes will severely affect your grade. In the event that you are unable to attend class, you must inform me of your legitimate reason before midnight on the night before class by email. Please come prepared to discuss both primary (always in italics) and secondary sources (always in plain type) in depth. You may wish to prepare questions about issues you did not understand or that you wish to explore together more fully. Note that participation in discussion during student presentations is mandatory and will be carefully monitored.

Cell phones usage (calls, texting, games, etc.) will not be permitted in my classroom.

Journal Responses (20%):

Students are also expected to keep a weekly journal. Entries can include brief comments and reflections on the assigned readings (primary and secondary), lectures, or class discussions (2 pages per entry; 5 entries total). The journal response is designed to be an ongoing engagement with the material of the course, especially with the assigned readings. For each entry you should answer the following questions: What were the main themes of the readings this week? What was the most important thing I learned from the readings this week? What common or various themes arise from the readings? Were the arguments made by the secondary readings convincing or problematic? Since there is a lot of material to consider, it would be to a student’s advantage not to try to do everything at the last minute (e.g., writing all five journals at the end of the semester while you also prepare for the final paper and your other courses!). Since the journals are to be graded, the expectation is that the student will not simply share her/his personal thoughts, but will share these thoughts in direct relation to the readings and class content.

The journal will be graded on how well a student articulates the issues and questions that come up in the classroom, what understanding the student shows about ways to think about the material under consideration, and whether the journal demonstrates engagement with the course.
material. In other words, it should be clear that s/he truly has done the readings for the class and thought about them in some depth.

Due Date: Since you are required to submit 5 weekly journal entries in total and there are 17 weeks in this course from which to base your responses, due dates will depend on your selection but are always due the following Tuesday after the week you have chosen to write on (e.g., if you write on a journal entry for Week 1 (8/17 & 8/19), your journal entry will be due the following Tuesday, i.e., 8/24.

Presentations (15%):

Each student will be assigned one in-class presentation (30 mins.). Presentations involve leading discussion of one or more primary sources, debating writings of contemporary scholars and/or raising critical questions about secondary sources. As the “expert” on their selected topic, students will be expected to take an active role in engaging their fellow students in critical discussion of both primary and secondary sources. Those with backgrounds in ancient Greek/Hebrew will be encouraged to lead discussions on the primary sources by selecting portions of the assigned reading to discuss at length.
I will send around a sign-up sheet during our first class with specific readings and topics.

Students leading discussion on primary sources should consider the following while preparing:
  - Provide background to passage – Authorship? Audience? Genre? Reception?
  - Situate passage within the larger context of the given work
  - Considers its connections to the general thematic and historical issues raised by readings and discussions in class

Students leading discussion on secondary sources should consider the following while preparing:
  - Summarize, evaluate, examine argument and evidence
  - Consider perspective, agenda, and assumptions of author
  - Critique – Is the argument persuasive? Problematic? What are its strengths? Weaknesses?

Short Exam 1 & 2 (15% each; 30% total):

Your short exam will be an in-class, closed-book exam, which will consist of identification and short-answer questions. Short Exam 1 is scheduled for the full 1 hour and 15 minutes of class on Thursday, September 30, 2010 and will cover material from 8/17 – 9/28. Short Exam 2 is scheduled for the full 1 hour and 15 minutes of class on Tuesday, November 23, 2010 and will cover material from 10/5 – 10/18.

Final Paper (25%):

Each student is expected to submit a final paper (8-10 pages in length; 2400-3000 words). Choices of topics are listed below:
Paper Topics:

Theme A: Images and Prescriptive Roles of Women in Early Christian Literature
Examine the images of women and the feminine, or the roles prescribed for women, as presented in the New Testament and/or other early Christian sources. Focus on one or two images (e.g., woman as temptress; as lazy or stupid; as innocent and trustworthy; or ever-loving and faithful), and/or focus on one or two specific roles (daughter, wife, mother, martyr, virgin, prophet, etc.). First, carefully describe (summarize) the information that you have uncovered. What details are provided that allow us to determine if these images are being exemplified in our texts? Next, assess the implications for the development of and/or justification for normative attitudes towards women (impact policies and practices) in the Christian tradition. Last, offer your own reflections on what you have learned.

Theme B: Women and Leadership
Choose a female religious leader discussed from our readings, discussions, and lectures, etc., and give a synopsis (biography) of her life story, describing what we might know about how she achieved a position of leadership (of what nature and over whom), the challenges or impediments she may have faced, how that leadership was exercised, what reactions there were from the larger community, and possible impacts.

Theme C: Creative Reconstruction of Women’s Lives
Choose a woman (real or fictive) discussed from our readings, discussions, lectures, etc., and try to reconstruct an account of her life from her perspective by creating a first-person narrative, letter, or biography. You will be required to research this particular woman and other women of her class, status, and background as well as provide a historical account of her life which will include information and details about her accomplishments, her connections to the early Christian movement, her participation in social groups and religious cults, and the cultural constraints to which she would have been exposed. While this option may seem like a fun alternative and you are encouraged to use your imagination to create her unique personality, the creative writing sample must be convincing.

Theme D: Topic of Your Own Choosing
A research paper related to the women and gender in early Christianity of your choice determined in consultation with me.

Due Date: Tuesday, December 6, 2012

Grading System
All assignments must be submitted by the due date. Late assignments will not be accepted except in the case of medical or family emergencies. Documentation for such cases is mandatory. Final course grades will be assigned according to the following scale: 100–90=A, 89–80=B, 79–70=C, 69–60=D, 59–0=F.

Statement Concerning Academic Standards
Academic dishonesty will be dealt with as severely as possible. Cheating will not be tolerated. You are responsible for doing your own work, and for knowing all University policies concerning cheating, plagiarism, and other forms of academic dishonesty. In accordance with the policies of VSU, I will report violations to the Office of the Dean of Students, which is charged with responding when students are accused of committing a violation of the academic dishonesty policy. At the very least, students found guilty of academic dishonesty will fail this course.

Definition of scholastic dishonesty:
Scholastic dishonesty is any act that violates the rights of another student with respect to academic work or that involves misrepresentation of a student’s own work. Scholastic dishonesty includes (but is not limited to) cheating on assignments or examinations; plagiarizing (misrepresenting as one’s own anything done by another); engaging in unauthorized collaboration on academic work; taking, acquiring, or using test materials without faculty permission; submitting the same or substantially similar papers (or creative work) for more than one course without consent of all instructors concerned; obtaining dishonestly grades, honors, awards, or professional endorsement; altering, forging, or misusing records of academic achievement; depriving another of necessary course materials or sabotaging another’s work.

If you have any questions or doubts about specific cases of documentation or citation, please ask me. If you have general questions about what constitutes scholastic dishonesty or wish to review the University policy, see the VSU guidelines at:

Students with Disabilities

Any student with a documented disability condition (e. g. physical, learning, psychiatric, systemic, vision, hearing, etc.) who needs to arrange reasonable accommodations should contact the instructor and registered with the Access Office for Students with Disabilities (1115 Nevins Hall) at:
- 245-2498 (voice)
- 219-1348 (tty)

Campus Writing Resources

There is a valuable resource on campus to assist with writing. This service is not only for students who require assistance with grammar or organization; it is also highly recommended for strong writers who wish to learn how to write even more effectively. Note, however, that tutorials are by appointment only; don’t expect immediate help or help at the last minute! The Student Success Center is located in Langdale Residence Hall and can be reached at 333-7570.

Women and Gender in Early Christianity

Valdosta State University – Fall Semester 2012

Lectures: Tuesdays & Thursdays 2:00-3:15 pm
Location: West Hall 147

Instructor: Dr. Lily Vuong
Email: lcvuong@valdosta.edu
Office: Ashley Hall 103
Office Hours: Mondays and Wednesday 1:00-3:00 pm or by appointment
Phone: 229-249-4959

Course Description: A study of images and representations of women and gender in the New Testament and other early Christian texts including “apocrypha,” “pseudepigrapha,” and Gnostic writings with special attention paid to historical and contemporary significance.

Content and Course Objectives:

This course investigates and considers images of women and gender in the New Testament and other early Christian texts including “apocrypha,” “pseudepigrapha,” and Gnostic writings, with special attention paid to their historical and contemporary significance. (Although we will focus on primarily Greek and Latin representations of women in the Christian tradition, Eastern expressions will also be considered). We will ask what these ancient, literary representations of women and femininity might reveal to us about the experiences and voices of “real” women and discuss the ways in which early Christian traditions about women may have impacted understandings of gender in Western culture. Examination of the variety of images and symbols of the feminine used in early Christian literature (e.g., images of the feminine to describe the Divine) will also be addressed. We will employ a variety of approaches to explore the early Christian views of women and gender including feminist, literary, historical, socio-cultural, and theological.

Course Outcomes:

1. Students will explain and interpret the tradition of Christianity
2. Students will apply critical and analytical skills in analyzing images and representations of women and gender in early Christianity.
3. Students will create independent research using current methods and approaches.
4. Students will demonstrate a working familiarity with current research methods.
5. Students will identify and evaluate their own self-understanding in the context of the pluralism that informs this course.

Required Texts:
• Elizabeth Clark, Women in the Early Church (Collegeville, MN: Liturgical Press, 1983)
• HarperCollins Study Bible with Apocrypha or Oxford Study Bible with Apocrypha
• Additional Readings will be available on reserve or in class.

Requirements and Evaluation:

1. Attendance & Participation: 10% Due: Every Class! 😊
2. Journal Responses: 20% Due: According to Selection
3. Short Exam 1 15% Due: Thurs, September 30, 2010
4. Presentations: 15% Due: According to Sign-Up
5. Short Exam 2 15% Due: Tues, November 23, 2010
6. Final Paper: 25% Due: Tues, December 6, 2010

Participation (10%):

Class preparation, attendance, and participation in class are an integral part of your learning in this course. Since the nature of an introduction class requires us to cover a substantial amount of material over a short period of time, it is critical that you attend all classes. Missing more than three classes will severely affect your grade. In the event that you are unable to attend class, you must inform me of your legitimate reason before midnight on the night before class by email. Please come prepared to discuss both primary (always in italics) and secondary sources (always in plain type) in depth. You may wish to prepare questions about issues you did not understand or that you wish to explore together more fully. Note that participation in discussion during student presentations is mandatory and will be carefully monitored.

 Cell phones usage (calls, texting, games, etc.) will not be permitted in my classroom.

Journal Responses (20%):

Students are also expected to keep a weekly journal. Entries can include brief comments and reflections on the assigned readings (primary and secondary), lectures, or class discussions (2 pages per entry; 5 entries total). The journal response is designed to be an ongoing engagement with the material of the course, especially with the assigned readings. For each entry you should answer the following questions: What were the main themes of the readings this week? What was the most important thing I learned from the readings this week? What common or various themes arise from the readings? Were the arguments made by the secondary readings convincing or problematic? Since there is a lot of material to consider, it would be to a student’s advantage not to try to do everything at the last minute (e.g., writing all five journals at the end of the semester while you also prepare for the final paper and your other courses!). Since the journals are to be graded, the expectation is that the student will not simply share her/his personal thoughts, but will share these thoughts in direct relation to the readings and class content.

The journal will be graded on how well a student articulates the issues and questions that come up in the classroom, what understanding the student shows about ways to think about the material under consideration, and whether the journal demonstrates engagement with the course material. In other words, it should be clear that s/he truly has done the readings for the class and thought about them in some depth.

Due Date: Since you are required to submit 5 weekly journal entries in total and there are 17 weeks in this course from which to base your responses, due dates will depend on your selection but are always due the following Tuesday after the week you have chosen to write on (e.g., if you write on a journal entry for Week 1 (8/17 & 8/19), your journal entry will be due the following Tuesday, i.e., 8/24.

Presentations (15%):

Each student will be assigned one in-class presentation (30 mins.). Presentations involve leading discussion of one or more primary sources, debating writings of contemporary scholars and/or raising critical questions about secondary sources. As the "expert" on their selected topic, students will be expected to take an active role in engaging their fellow students in critical discussion of both primary and secondary sources. Those with backgrounds in ancient Greek/Hebrew will be encouraged to lead discussions on the primary sources by selecting portions of the assigned reading to discuss at length. I will send around a sign-up sheet during our first class with specific readings and topics.

*Students leading discussion on primary sources should consider the following while preparing:
  - Provide background to passage – Authorship? Audience? Genre? Reception?
  - Situate passage within the larger context of the given work
  - Considers its connections to the general thematic and historical issues raised by readings and discussions in class

*Students leading discussion on secondary sources should consider the following while preparing:
  - Summarize, evaluate, examine argument and evidence
  - Consider perspective, agenda, and assumptions of author
  - Critique – Is the argument persuasive? Problematic? What are its strengths? Weaknesses?

Short Exam 1 & 2 (15% each; 30% total):

Your short exam will be an in-class, closed-book exam, which will consist of identification and short-answer questions. Short Exam 1 is scheduled for the full 1 hour and 15 minutes of class on Thursday, September 30, 2010 and will cover material from 8/17 – 9/28. Short Exam 2 is scheduled for the full 1 hour and 15 minutes of class on Tuesday, November 23, 2010 and will cover material from 10/5 – 10/18.

Final Paper (25%):

Each student is expected to submit a final paper (8-10 pages in length; 2400-3000 words). Choices of topics are listed below:
Paper Topics:

Theme A: Images and Prescriptive Roles of Women in Early Christian Literature
Examine the images of women and the feminine, or the roles prescribed for women, as presented in the New Testament and/or other early Christian sources. Focus on one or two images (e.g., woman as temptress; as lazy or stupid; as innocent and trustworthy; or ever-loving and faithful), and/or focus on one or two specific roles (daughter, wife, mother, martyr, virgin, prophet, etc.). First, carefully describe (summarize) the information that you have uncovered. What details are provided that allow for us to determine if these images are being exemplified in our texts? Next, assess the implications for the development of and/or justification for normative attitudes towards women (impacting policies and practices) in the Christian tradition. Last, offer your own reflections on what you have learned.

Theme B: Women and Leadership
Choose a female religious leader discussed from our readings, discussions, and lectures, etc., and give a synopsis (biography) of her life story, describing what we might know about how she achieved a position of leadership (of what nature and over whom), the challenges or impediments she may have faced, how that leadership was exercised, what reactions there were from the larger community, and possible impacts.

Theme C: Creative Reconstruction of Women’s Lives
Choose a woman (real or fictive) discussed from our readings, discussions, lectures, etc., and try to reconstruct an account of her life from her perspective by creating a first-person narrative, letter, or biography. You will be required to research this particular woman and other women of her class, status, and background as well as provide a historical account of her life which will include information and details about her accomplishments, her connections to the early Christian movement, her participation in social groups and religious cults, and the cultural constraints to which she would have been exposed. While this option may seem like a fun alternative and you are encouraged to use your imagination to create her unique personality, the creative writing sample must be convincing.

Theme D: Topic of Your Own Choosing
A research paper related to the women and gender in early Christianity of your choice determined in consultation with me.

Due Date: Tuesday, December 6, 2012

Grading System
All assignments must be submitted by the due date. Late assignments will not be accepted except in the case of medical or family emergencies. Documentation for such cases is mandatory. Final course grades will be assigned according to the following scale: 100–90=A, 89–80=B, 79–70=C, 69–60=D, 59–0=F.

Statement Concerning Academic Standards
Academic dishonesty will be dealt with as severely as possible. Cheating will not be tolerated. You are responsible for doing your own work, and for knowing all University policies concerning cheating, plagiarism, and other forms of academic dishonesty. In accordance with the policies of VSU, I will report violations to the Office of the Dean of Students, which is charged with responding when students are accused of committing a violation of the academic dishonesty policy. At the very least, students found guilty of academic dishonesty will fail this course.

Definition of scholastic dishonesty:
Scholastic dishonesty is any act that violates the rights of another student with respect to academic work or that involves misrepresentation of a student’s own work. Scholastic dishonesty includes (but is not limited to) cheating on assignments or examinations; plagiarizing (misrepresenting as one’s own anything done by another); engaging in unauthorized collaboration on academic work; taking, acquiring, or using test materials without faculty permission; submitting the same or substantially similar papers (or creative work) for more than one course without consent of all instructors concerned; obtaining dishonestly grades, honors, awards, or professional endorsement; altering, forging, or misusing records of academic achievement; depriving another of necessary course materials or sabotaging another's work.

If you have any questions or doubts about specific cases of documentation or citation, please ask me. If you have general questions about what constitutes scholastic dishonesty or wish to review the University policy, see the VSU guidelines at:
http://www.valdosta.edu/academic/AcademicHonestyPoliciesandProcedures.shtml

Students with Disabilities

Any student with a documented disability condition (e.g., physical, learning, psychiatric, systemic, vision, hearing, etc.) who needs to arrange reasonable accommodations should contact the instructor and registered with the Access Office for Students with Disabilities (1115 Nevins Hall) at:
- 245-2498 (voice)
- 219-1348 (tty)

Campus Writing Resources

There is a valuable resource on campus to assist with writing. This service is not only for students who require assistance with grammar or organization; it is also highly recommended for strong writers who wish to learn how to write even more effectively. Note, however, that tutorials are by appointment only; don’t expect immediate help or help at the last minute! The Student Success Center is located in Langdale Residence Hall and can be reached at 333-7570.

Varieties of Early Christianity

Valdosta State University – Fall Semester 2012

Lectures: Tuesdays & Thursdays 11:00-12:15 pm
Location: West Hall 147
Instructor: Dr. Lily Vuong
Email: lcvuong@valdosta.edu
Office: 102 Georgia Street (Brown House; Second Floor)
Office Hours: Mondays and Wednesday 1:00-3:00 pm or by appointment
Phone: 229-249-4959

Course Description: A study of variety in early Christian thought and practice in the first three centuries of the Common Era with a focus on an examination of extra-canonical literature.

Content and Course Objectives:

This course explores the variety in early Christian thought and practice in the first three centuries of the Common Era with a focus on examining extra-canonical literature found in writings categorized as New Testament Apocrypha and the Nag Hammadi Library. In doing so, we will be concerned with the types of genres of literature produced by Christians and the Jewish and Greco-Roman literary contexts which helped shape and form them. We will ask, for instance, how Greek language and culture has influenced these apocryphal and gnostic writings in terms of their function and purpose. We will also focus our attention on discussing and comparing the various forms of Christian belief and practice reflected in these writings. In the process of discussing the diversity of early Christianity, we will need to address theoretical and historiographical issues surrounding what has traditionally been labeled as “orthodoxy” and “heresy” and to address the place and role of extra-canonical material in the history of biblical interpretation.

Course Outcomes:

1. Students will interpret and analyze primary sources from antiquity including the various genres of literature found in extra-canonical literature.
2. Students will apply critical and analytical skills to the theoretical issues and problems surrounding the ideas of “orthodoxy” and “heresy” in this period.
3. Students will identify and evaluate their own self-understanding in the context of the complexity of the development of early Christianity.
4. Students will create independent research using the texts and issues of this period.
5. Students will demonstrate a working familiarity with current research methods utilizing topics from this era.

Required Texts:

• Additional Readings will be available on Blazeview or in class.

Recommended Texts:

• Wayne A Meeks, ed., HarperCollins Study Bible with Apocrypha or Oxford Study Bible with Apocrypha

Requirements and Evaluation:

1. Attendance & Participation: 15%  Due: Every Class! ☺
2. Primary Source Presentations: 20%  Due: According to Sign-Up
3. Group Book Review
   Presentation and Written Review 30%  Due: According to Sign-Up
4. Paper Outline and Annotated Bibliography 10%  Due: Tues., November 1, 2011
5. Final Paper: 25%  Due: Thurs., December 1, 2011

Participation (15%):

Class preparation, attendance, and participation in class are an integral part of your learning in this course. Since the nature of a senior seminar requires us to cover a substantial amount of material over a short period of time, it is critical that you attend all classes. Missing more than three classes will severely affect your grade. In the event that you are unable to attend class, you must inform me of your legitimate reason before midnight on the night before class by email. Please come prepared to discuss both primary (always in italics) and secondary sources (always in plain type) in depth. You may wish to prepare questions about issues you did not understand or that you wish to explore together more fully. Note that participation in discussion during student presentations is mandatory and will be carefully monitored.

Please note that cell phone usage (calls, texts, games, etc.) will not be allowed in my class and that you will be asked to leave if found breaking this rule.

Presentations (20%):

Each student will be assigned one in-class presentation (30 mins.). Presentations involve the discussion of one primary source (e.g., Gospel of Peter) as well as the correlating chapter (secondary source) found in Ehrman (e.g., Chapter One). As the “expert” on their selected topic, students will be expected to take an active role in engaging their fellow students in critical discussion of both primary and secondary sources.

I will send around a sign-up sheet during our first class with specific readings and topics.

When discussing primary sources students should consider the following while preparing:
• Provide background to passage – Authorship? Audience? Genre? Reception?
• Situate passage within the larger context of the given work
• Considers its connections to the general thematic and historical issues raised by readings and discussions in class

*When discussing secondary sources students should consider the following while preparing:
• Summarize, evaluate, examine argument and evidence
• Consider perspective, agenda, and assumptions of author
• Critique – What is persuasive/problematic about Ehrman’s argument? What are his strengths/weaknesses?

Group Book Review (15% presentation; 15% written review = 30%):

You will present a book review in groups of four or five on one of the following books:

1. Esther De Boer, Mary Magdalene Cover-Up: The Sources Behind the Myth (T&T Clark, 2007)

You will also submit a written review of the book (3-4 pages) due one week after the group presentation.

Paper Outline and Annotated Bibliography (10%)

Each student will submit a paper outline which will include an outline of their final paper and a full annotated bibliography. You must use MLA, SBL, or Chicago citations and be consistent.

Final Paper (25%):

Each student is expected to submit a final paper (8-10 pages in length; 2500-3000 words).

Paper Topic:

Examine a non-canonical gospel, acts, letter, or apocalypse discussed in our class and offer a close literary analysis of its contents. Consider its literary categorization and whether or not its literary characteristics are consistent or inconsistent with what we know of its genre. Next, assess the text within the Jewish and Greco-Roman literary context in order to determine possible influences on this writing. Lastly, consider and discuss the possibly reasons for the text’s exclusion from the Bible.

Due Date: Thursday, December 1, 2012

 Note that late papers will be penalized at 5% per day.
Grading System

All assignments must be submitted by the due date. Late assignments will not be accepted except in the case of medical or family emergencies. Documentation for such cases is mandatory. Final course grades will be assigned according to the following scale: 100–97=A+, 96–93=A, 92–90=A-, 89–87=B+, 86–83=B, 82–80=B-, 79–77=C+, 76–73=C, 72–70=C-, 69–67=D+, 66–63=D, 62–60=D-, 59–0=F.

Statement Concerning Academic Standards

Academic dishonesty will be dealt with as severely as possible. Cheating will not be tolerated. You are responsible for doing your own work, and for knowing all University policies concerning cheating, plagiarism, and other forms of academic dishonesty. In accordance with the policies of VSU, I will report violations to the Office of the Dean of Students, which is charged with responding when students are accused of committing a violation of the academic dishonesty policy. At the very least, students found guilty of academic dishonesty will fail this course.

Definition of scholastic dishonesty:
Scholastic dishonesty is any act that violates the rights of another student with respect to academic work or that involves misrepresentation of a student’s own work. Scholastic dishonesty includes (but is not limited to) cheating on assignments or examinations; plagiarizing (misrepresenting as one’s own anything done by another); engaging in unauthorized collaboration on academic work; taking, acquiring, or using test materials without faculty permission; submitting the same or substantially similar papers (or creative work) for more than one course without consent of all instructors concerned; obtaining dishonestly grades, honors, awards, or professional endorsement; altering, forging, or misusing records of academic achievement; depriving another of necessary course materials or sabotaging another’s work.

If you have any questions or doubts about specific cases of documentation or citation, please ask me. If you have general questions about what constitutes scholastic dishonesty or wish to review the University policy, see the VSU guidelines at:
http://www.valdosta.edu/academic/AcademicHonestyPoliciesandProcedures.shtml

Students with Disabilities

Any student with a documented disability condition (e.g. physical, learning, psychiatric, systemic, vision, hearing, etc.) who needs to arrange reasonable accommodations should contact the instructor and registered with the Access Office for Students with Disabilities (1115 Nevins Hall) at:
- 245-2498 (voice)
- 219-1348 (tty)

Campus Writing Resources

There is a valuable resource on campus to assist with writing. This service is not only for students who require assistance with grammar or organization; it is also highly recommended for strong writers who wish to learn how to write even more effectively. Note, however, that tutorials are by appointment only; don’t expect immediate help or help at the last minute!
The Student Success Center is located in Langdale Residence Hall and can be reached at 333-7570.

Memorandum

To: Connie Richards
Dean, College of Arts and Sciences

From: Robert Gannon
Department Head, Biology

Subject: Catalog Change – AP & IB scores

Date: Dec 7, 2011

The Department of Biology has decided to recommend changes to the catalog (pages 22 – 24 of 2011 catalog) that will allow high school students to get credit for BIOL 1108 as the current catalog only allows for the students to get credit for BIOL 1107. The new recommendations are as follows:

Minimum requirements for college equivalencies are:

AP exam score of 4 or 5 allows for both BIOL 1107 and BIOL 1108 credit

IB score of 5 on HL or 6 for SL to get credit for BIOL 1107

IB score of 6 on HL or 7 on SL to get credit for both BIOL 1107 and BIOL 1108

Indicate if Course will be:
- [ ] Requirement for Major
- [x] Elective

Proposed Course Description:
(Follow current catalogue format and include prerequisites or co-requisites, cross listings, special requirements for admission or grading. A description of fifty words or fewer is preferred.) Completion of an original research project in the student's major area under the direction of a department thesis committee. Prerequisite: Admission to M.Ed. Program in Educational Leadership and permission of advisor.

Justification:
Select one or more of the following to indicate why the requested change will be beneficial, giving your justification. Include and/or append relevant supporting data.

- [x] Improving student learning outcomes: Students will have the opportunity to apply content learned during degree program to completion of an original research study in the student's area of interest.

- [ ] Adopting current best practice(s) in field:

- [ ] Meeting Mandates of State/Federal/Outside Accrediting Agencies:

- [ ] Other: Completion of a masters thesis will provide important research skills for those students who plan to continue advanced graduate study at the doctoral level.

Source of Data to Support Suggested Change:

- [x] Indirect Measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. The desire to provide a thesis option for completion of the Higher Education Leadership MEd degree is based on student requests for an alternative to the portfolio. This alternative project would allow them to complete an original research study on a topic relevant to their future career goals in higher education and student affairs.

- [ ] Direct Measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.)

College of Education Conceptual Framework Standards (CFS)
The educational leader will:

1. Facilitate the development, articulation, implementation, and stewardship of vision of learning that is shared and supported by the school community.
2. Advocate, nurture, and sustain a school culture and instructional program conducive to student learning and staff professional growth.
3. Ensure management of the organization, operations, and resources for a safe, efficient, and effective learning environment.
4. Collaborate with families and community members, responding to diverse community interests and needs, and mobilizing community resources.
5. Act with integrity, fairness, and in an ethical manner.
6. Understand, respond to, and influence the larger political, social, economic, legal, and cultural context.
7. Synthesize and apply knowledge and skills learned in standards 1-6 in real settings under the guidance of university supervisors and school personnel.

Course Objectives
The student will:

- Collect data following approved procedures.
- Analyze research data.
- Report research findings.
- Demonstrate effective oral and written communication skills.

Course Activities / Assignments / Requirements
A number of course activities are inherent in completion of the processes and products described in the Course Evaluation methods generally described below. These activities include: Research and Writing (Course objectives 1-4) and Revision by Expert and Self (Course objectives 1-4).

Course Evaluation

1. Thesis (70%)
   Written description of an applied research study. Criteria for evaluation: contains all pertinent elements (statement of problem, comprehensive literature review, procedures, data collection, analysis, and conclusions), APA format used, written in clear and grammatically correct language, submitted on due date. All work for the dissertation is conducted independently by the student in the field. Guidance is provided through online and other communications with the Thesis Committee Chairperson and Thesis Committee.

2. Thesis Defense (30%)
   Oral summary and critique of applied research study. Criteria for evaluation: includes pertinent content, effective showmanship and use of visuals, presented in clear and grammatically correct language, presented on due date.

The instructor reserves the right to make changes to the course. (Last revision, 11/10/11)
Grading Scale
Quality is expected in all products and performances. Given the percentage totals above, final grades will be assigned accordingly: S/U

Participation Policy
Because students are being prepared to accept professional duties and responsibilities, attendance decisions are viewed as critical to developing professionalism.

Special Needs Statement
Students requesting classroom accommodations or modifications due to a documented disability must contact the Access Office for Students with Disabilities located in Farber Hall. The phone numbers are 245-2498 (V/VP) and 219-1348 (TTY).

Policy Statement on Plagiarism (Dewar College of Education)
Below is information directly quoted from the Academic Honesty Policies and Procedures:

Academic integrity is the responsibility of all VSU faculty and students. Faculty members should promote academic integrity by including clear instruction on the components of academic integrity and clearly defining the penalties for cheating and plagiarism in their course syllabi. Students are responsible for knowing and abiding by the Academic Integrity Policy as set forth in the Student Code of Conduct and the faculty members' syllabi. All students are expected to do their own work and to uphold a high standard of academic ethics.

The full text of Academic Honesty Policies and Procedures is available in the on the Academic Affairs website (http://www.valdosta.edu/academic/AcademicHonestyatVSU.shtml).

The consequences for acts of academic dishonesty in the Dewar College of Education are:

FIRST OFFENSE:

1. The faculty member will administer an academic response (e.g. resubmit / retake assignment, failure of the assignment, failure of the course).
2. The faculty member will complete a Level Two Dewar College of Education Concern form (http://www.valdosta.edu/coe/studentsinfo.shtml).
3. The faculty member will complete a Valdosta State University Report of Academic Dishonesty (http://www.valdosta.edu/academic/AcademicHonestyatVSU.shtml).

SECOND OFFENSE:

1. The faculty member will administer an academic response (e.g. resubmit / retake assignment, failure of the assignment, failure of the course).
2. The faculty member will complete a Level Two Dewar College of Education Concern form (http://www.valdosta.edu/coe/studentsinfo.shtml). According to the Dewar College of Education Concern Form Policy, "a second level two concern form will result in the student being dismissed from his/her program of study. This dismissal will result in an automatic review by the COE Undergraduate Policies Committee.*

3. The faculty member will complete a Valdosta State University Report of Academic Dishonesty (http://www.valdosta.edu/academic/AcademicHonestyatVSU.shtml). According to the Academic Honesty Policies and Procedures document, "after a second (or subsequent) Report of Academic Dishonesty has been submitted to the Student Conduct Office in the Dean of Students Office, official charges will be drawn up and the disciplinary matter will be referred to the Valdosta State University Judicial Committee.

According to the Commission on the Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs (CAAHEP) Exercise Physiology is a discipline that includes clinical exercise physiology and applied exercise physiology. Applied Exercise Physiologists manage programs to assess, design, and implement individual and group exercise and fitness programs for apparently healthy individuals and individuals with controlled disease. Clinical Exercise Physiologists work under the direction of a physician in the application of physical activity and behavioral interventions in clinical situations where they have been scientifically proven to provide therapeutic or functional benefit. The curriculum changes proposed are an effort to prepare the Exercise Physiology program for CAAHEP accreditation and endorsement by the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM), and the National Strength & Conditioning Association (NSCA).

- Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) Each student is evaluated by their respective site supervisor upon completion of the KSPE 4550 Internship course. In addition, each student completes an evaluation of the EP program and the internship experience.

Plan for assessing the effectiveness of the change in meeting program's learning outcomes (i.e., how do these changes fit within the current program assessment plan and what sorts of data will be collected and evaluated to determine if these changes are meeting stated program outcomes?).

Data Sources:

- Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) Prior to the completion of the KSPE 4550 Internship "capstone" course, each student is required to sit for a professional certification exam through the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) or the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA). The results of the exam are analyzed regarding the student's performance in various categories. This data will assist us in identifying curriculum content areas that are in need of modification or improvement.

Re: Curriculum Course Prerequisites
   Exercise Physiology Program

Dr. Gunter:

This letter is an official request to make the following en masse course prerequisite change, within the Exercise Physiology curriculum, for the 2012 - 2013 undergraduate catalog.

   The phrase “grade of C or higher in all prerequisite courses” should be added to the prerequisite criteria for the following courses: KSPE 4080, KSPE 3010, KSPE 3200, KSPE 3410, KSPE 4070, KSPE 3011, KSPE 3020, KSPE 3650, KSPE 4210, KSPE 3050, KSPE 4040, KSPE 4130, KSPE 4510 and KSPE 4550. However, any specific course(s) required as a prerequisite will remain.

Respectfully submitted,

LaGary

Justification:

Select one or more of the following to indicate why the requested change will be beneficial, giving your justification. Include and/or append relevant supporting data.

- Improve student learning outcomes: Students would begin the admissions process as incoming freshmen. We have a significant number of declared athletic training majors and the faculty would like to involve these students during their first semester. Some students that declare athletic training their major do not know all of the requirements of the major, nor do they have a true understanding of the athletic training profession. By having freshmen take KSPE (Introduction to Athletic Training) course in the fall of their freshmen year, they receive the beneficial information and can determine if they wish to continue towards admission into the program (which would include course work in the spring semester of the students' freshmen year) or if they wish to change their major. Moving KSPE 2050 to the first semester allows those students that are truly interested in the major an earlier opportunity to interact with faculty and current students in the program. In order to aid in the declared majors understanding of the curriculum, the athletic training education program classes that they will take should provide them with enough diversity so that students wishing to stay athletic training majors can gain a significant amount of understanding about what the curriculum will be like upon admission. Students that do not wish to continue as athletic training majors have the opportunity to change their major. We have a significant amount of declared freshmen each year. For some reason (i.e. overall GPA falls below the requirement to take Introduction to Athletic Training), we lose students before they begin the admissions process in the fall of the students' sophomore year (the current format). The faculty believes that it can provide structure and guidance to students early so that they have a better chance of being admitted into the program. Furthermore, students that decide that athletic training is not for them, can change majors after the fall semester, freshmen year. They can change their major based on factual information about the athletic training program and athletic training profession.

   a. overall GPA falling below 2.75 and inability to achieve this requirement after one semester of probation
   b. unsatisfactory clinical evaluation.
   c. unsatisfactory year-end evaluation.
3. Technical Standards
The VSU Athletic Training Program has specific technical standards that must be mastered prior to graduation. The Standards can be found on the Athletic Training Education website: <http://www.valdosta.edu/coe/kspe/athletictraining/index.shtml>

Students must be aware that a grade of "D" or "F" in a major course may result in a delay of graduation. The course may be offered only once in an academic year. No mechanism exists, nor will one be devised, for making up the deficiency other than retaking the course when it is offered the next time.

3. Technical Standards

The VSU Athletic Training Education Program has specific technical standards that must be mastered prior to admission into the program. The Standards can be found on the Athletic Training Education Program website:

Students must be aware that a final course grade below a "C" in a major course may result in a delay in graduation. The course may be offered only once in an academic year. No mechanism exists, nor will one be devised, for making up the deficiency other than retaking the course when it is offered the next time.

Justification:

Select one or more of the following to indicate why the requested change will be beneficial, giving your justification. Include and/or append relevant supporting data.

☑ Improve student learning outcomes: In order to stay on track in the program, the student would be required to maintain a certain overall GPA and/or maintain at least a grade of "C" or better in major courses of study. Students that fall below the required overall GPA would still have one probationary semester in which to bring the overall GPA above the minimum overall GPA. Students would be aware that a final course grade below a "C" on any major course would place them in a situation that required academic improvement because an additional final course grade below a "C" on any major course would result in dismissal from the program.

☐ Adopting current best practice(s) in field: Students that fail to keep their overall GPA above the minimum requirement or students unable to bring their overall GPA above the minimum GPA after one semester of probation should indicate that the student is unable to be successful in the course/clinical work required in the program. Students that receive two final grades below a "C" on any major course of study indicates their inability to be successful in the course/clinical work required in the program.

☐ Meeting mandates of state/federal/outside accrediting agencies:

Source of Data to Support Suggested Change:

☐ Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc.
☑ Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) Students receiving final course grades below a "C" on major courses of study indicate that they are unable handle the course/clinical work required. Because courses are only offered once a year and no mechanism exists, nor will one be devised to allow the course to be offered at different times, students delay graduation by a year for each course in which they are unsuccessful. The curriculum is designed for a student to graduate in 4 years if they enter VSU as a true freshman.

List of courses (or the program or track) to be deactivated: KSPE 4430: Athletic Training Field Experience

Justification: Select one or more of the following to indicate why the requested change will be beneficial, giving your justification. Include and/or append relevant supporting data.

☑ Improving Student Learning Outcomes By deactivating KSPE 4430, the program will be able to better utilize the 12 credit hours associated with the course. The 12 credit hours will provide the program more time to institute the required content into other existing courses, as well as create two additional courses to enhance the didactic and clinical education experiences of the student.

Justification: Select one or more of the following to indicate why the requested change will be beneficial, giving your justification. Include and/or append relevant supporting data.

☐ Improving student learning outcomes:

☐ Adopting current best practice(s) in field:

☐ Meeting Mandates of State/Federal/Outside Accrediting Agencies:

☐ Other: The Introduction to Athletic Training course has been intended for students, that were eligible, to take the class during the fall of the student's sophomore year. We intend to have all incoming freshmen that declare "Athletic Training" as their major take this course in the fall of the students' freshmen year. The Athletic Training Education Program has many declared incoming freshmen but we have seen a decline in the number of students that declared athletic training in the fall of their freshmen year, continue to declare athletic training as their major in the fall of their sophomore year. The faculty feels that having the opportunity to engage interested, declared majors in the fall of the students' freshmen year, the better opportunity that the faculty has of informing declared majors of the various components of the program and provide them with detailed information about the major and the profession. The class would be a requirement for formal admission into the program. Students that take the class in the fall of their freshmen year that find that they are not interested in the major, can change majors and begin another course of study after the first semester. Currently, because the course is not offered until the fall of the students' sophomore year, students that complete the course but have no interest in the major begin their fourth semester in college before deciding to change majors. On the other hand, students that have a genuine interest in continuing with the athletic training major begin to built rapport with the faculty and admitted students from their first semester on campus. The admissions process would involve coursework over two semesters so that students are have constant contact with members of the Athletic Training Education Program faculty. The additional credit hour requested in necessary because musculoskeletal anatomy, to include directional terminology, will be added to the course. The additional content will require an additional credit hour. The course is currently listed as a 1-2-2 and we would like to see it listed as a 3-0-3. Additional content is the primary request for the additional credit hour.

Source of Data to Support Suggested Change:

☒ Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. The current number of students that are completing the admissions process is significantly lower than the number of freshmen that declare athletic training as their major. Overall GPA's for many students is below the overall 2.75 gpa required to even take the admissions class currently. Having access to the students early may help to reduce the number of students that are still interested in the program, but have let their overall gpa prevent them from being eligible.

☒ Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) The program will be able to determine how motivated students are by providing them with course work early that directly pertains to their declared major.

Plans for assessing the effectiveness of the course in meeting the program's learning outcomes (i.e., how does this course fit within the current program assessment plan and what sorts of data will be collected and evaluated to determine if the course is meeting stated program or course outcomes?).

Data Sources:

☐ Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. Will allow to the program to indicate if engaging the declared majors as freshmen in the fall semester will result in a higher number of students that continue their interest in the program past their freshmen year. If students after taking this class determine that they no longer wish to declare athletic training as their major, then they can complete a questionnaire informing the faculty of the reasons why they wish to change their major.
Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) The program can use exams and class assignments to determine how interested and engaged the students are because they will have early access to the major specific course information.

Justification: Select one or more of the following to indicate why the requested change will be beneficial, giving your justification. Include and/or append relevant supporting data.

☐ Improving student learning outcomes: A large component of the course is retesting (clinical scenarios) content from the courses taken the previous semester. Students unable to successfully complete the course would not be successful being retested in a clinical scenario model if the student does not understand the basic concepts of the course.

☐ Adopting current best practice(s) in field: A large component of the course is retesting (clinical scenarios) content from the courses taken the previous semester. Students unable to successfully complete the course would not be successful being retested in a clinical scenario model if the student does not understand the basic concepts of the course.

☐ Meeting Mandates of State/Federal/Outside Accrediting Agencies:

☐ Other: The course title change will better reflect the nature of the course. The course involves the student performing clinical competencies in clinical settings. The request for an additional credit hour is due to the fact that we currently have a difficult time integrating the clinical competencies in the time allotted. An additional credit hour would allow for competency review and competency integration in clinical settings, as well as in a computer simulation environment. The course is currently listed as a 0-2-1. We would like to see it listed as a 1-2-2.

Source of Data to Support Suggested Change:

☐ Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. Various surveys that indicate that with the current amount of content within the class combined with the clinical education component, the course load and requirements should reflect that the course receive an additional credit hour

☐ Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) student tests/evaluations should indicate that the student is better able to apply skills and knowledge in scenario based formats because they would have successfully passed the course which would indicate that they have knowledge and understanding of the individual skills associated with the course.

Semester/Year to be Effective:
Fall 2013

Estimated Frequency of Course Offering:
The course may be offered twice a year as the curriculum moves through the transition process. Clinical I is comprised of major courses of study that the student successfully completed ("C" or better) the previous semester.

Indicate if Course will be:  ☑ Requirement for Major  ☐ Elective
Justification: Select one or more of the following to indicate why the requested change will be beneficial, giving your justification. Include and/or append relevant supporting data.

- Improving student learning outcomes: A large component of the course is retesting (clinical scenarios) content from the courses taken the previous semester. Students unable to successfully complete the course would not be successful being retested in a clinical scenario model if the student does not understand the basic concepts of the course.

- Adopting current best practice(s) in field: A large component of the course is retesting (clinical scenarios) content from the courses taken the previous semester. Students unable to successfully complete the course would not be successful being retested in a clinical scenario model if the student does not understand the basic concepts of the course.

- Meeting Mandates of State/Federal/Outside Accrediting Agencies:
- Other: The course title change will better reflect the nature of the course. The course involves the student performing clinical competencies in clinical settings. The request for an additional credit hour is due to the fact that we currently have a difficult time integrating the clinical competencies in the time allotted. An additional credit hour would allow for competency review and competency integration in clinical settings, as well as in a computer simulation environment. The course is currently listed as a 0-2-1. We would like to see it listed as a 1-2-2.

Source of Data to Support Suggested Change:

- Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. Various surveys that indicate that with the current amount of content within the class combined with the clinical education component, the course load and requirements should reflect that the course receive an additional credit hour.

- Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) student tests/evaluations should indicate that the student is better able to apply skills and knowledge in scenario based formats because they would have successfully passed the course which would indicate that they have knowledge and understanding of the individual skills associated with the course.

Plans for assessing the effectiveness of the course in meeting the program's learning outcomes (i.e., how does this course fit within the current program assessment plan and what sorts of data will be collected and evaluated to determine if the course is meeting stated program or course outcomes?).

Data Sources:

- Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. SOIs and various surveys that could indicate that the additional credit hour allowed for greater review and application of skills.

Semester/Year to be Effective:

Fall 2012

Indicate if Course will be:

- [x] Requirement for Major

Estimated Frequency of Course Offering:

The course may be offered twice a year as the curriculum moves through the transition process. Clinical II is comprised of major courses of study that the student successfully completed ("C" or better) the previous semester.
Justification: Select one or more of the following to indicate why the requested change will be beneficial, giving your justification. Include and/or append relevant supporting data.

- Improving student learning outcomes: A large component of the course is retesting (clinical scenarios) content from the courses taken the previous semester. Students unable to successfully complete the course would not be successful being retested in a clinical scenario model if the student does not understand the basic concepts of the course.

- Adopting current best practice(s) in field: A large component of the course is retesting (clinical scenarios) content from the courses taken the previous semester. Students unable to successfully complete the course would not be successful being retested in a clinical scenario model if the student does not understand the basic concepts of the course.

☐ Meeting Mandates of State/Federal/Outside Accrediting Agencies:

☐ Other: The course title change will better reflect the nature of the course. The course involves the student performing clinical competencies in clinical settings. The request for an additional credit hour is due to the fact that we currently have a difficult time integrating the clinical competencies in the time allotted. An additional credit hour would allow for competency review and competency integration in clinical settings, as well as in a computer simulation environment. The course is currently listed as a 0-2-1. We would like to see it listed as a 1-2-2.

Source of Data to Support Suggested Change:

- Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. Various surveys that indicate that with the current amount of content within the class combined with the clinical education component, the course load and requirements should reflect that the course receive an additional credit hour

- Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) student tests/evaluations should indicate that the student is better able to apply skills and knowledge in scenario based formats because they would have successfully passed the course which would indicate that they have knowledge and understanding of the individual skills associated with the course.

Plans for assessing the effectiveness of the course in meeting the program’s learning outcomes (i.e., how does this course fit within the current program assessment plan and what sorts of data will be collected and evaluated to determine if the course is meeting stated program or course outcomes?).

Data Sources:

- Indirect measures: SOIs, student, employer, or alumni surveys, etc. SOIs and various surveys that could indicate that the additional credit hour allowed for greater review and application of skills.

- Direct measures: Materials collected and evaluated for program assessment purposes (tests, portfolios, specific assignments, etc.) student tests/evaluations should indicate that the student is better able to apply skills and knowledge in scenario based formats because they would have successfully passed the course which would indicate that they have knowledge and understanding of the individual skills associated with the course.
