Relationship to USG and University policies

This handbook is intended to serve as a general guide to employment at Valdosta State University. It does not create, and should not be interpreted as creating, a contract of employment or any contractual rights or obligations between Valdosta State University and any employee, whether individually or collectively. Rather, the policies, procedures, practices, and benefits described herein are provided as general administrative guidelines to support consistent and effective employment practices.

Because laws, regulations, Board of Regents policies, and institutional needs evolve over time, this handbook is not intended to address every situation or circumstance. Valdosta State University reserves the right to modify, revise, suspend, interpret, or discontinue any policy, procedure, practice, or benefit described in this handbook at any time, with or without notice, to the extent permitted by law.

Unless otherwise noted, the policies contained in this handbook apply to both faculty and staff. Matters that are unique to faculty employment, including those related to academic responsibilities, promotion, tenure, and faculty governance, are addressed in the Faculty Handbook and other applicable Board of Regents and University policies.

This handbook is subject to all applicable policies of the University System of Georgia Board of Regents. In the event of any conflict between this handbook and Board of Regents policies, rules, or procedures, the Board of Regents' policies shall govern and take precedence.

Employee Responsibilities

Employees are responsible for reviewing this handbook and any updates provided by the University. Failure to read or acknowledge a policy does not relieve an employee of the responsibility to comply with applicable requirements.

ATTENDANCE AND SEPARATION

Attendance Guidelines & Expectations (Job Abandonment, etc.)

Reference: BOR Policy 08.02.18 Personnel Conduct HRAP 06.01 Annual Leave

POLICY AT A GLANCE: Employee attendance directly impacts VSU's operations and is considered in hiring, promotions, transfers, and merit awards. Misuse of leave, excessive absences, unexcused absences, or failure to remain at work may result in disciplinary action. Tardiness is arriving late and may lead to corrective action if repeated.

No call/no show occurs when an employee misses a shift without notifying a supervisor within 30 minutes. Unjustified absences are those not accepted as reasonable by a supervisor; medical-related absences require HR/EOD consultation. Leaving work without permission or exceeding breaks is considered failure to remain on duty. Excessive absence negatively affecting work completion may also lead to action, with HR/EOD consulted for medical-related cases.

Official work hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

PROCEDURES:

For the purposes of the policy, excessive absences will be defined as 5-10 unscheduled absences within a rolling 12-month period.

1. Know the Rules

- Enter all leave taken into OneUSG immediately upon your return.

4. Requesting Leave

- Exceptions apply only in emergencies.
- Approval of annual leave (except when used to cover an health-related absence) will be subject to the supervisor's discretion.

5. Health-Related Absences

- If you need to be absent or late due to illness or health condition, contact HR/EOD for guidance.

6. Attendance During the Provisional Period

- During the initial six-month provisional period, any pattern of absences, lateness, failure to report, or other violations of work rules may result in further disciplinary action up to and including termination.

7. Presumed Resignation / Job Abandonment (Staff)

- An employee who is absent for three consecutive working days without authorization and cannot provide a satisfactory explanation will be considered to have abandoned their job or resigned.
- Supervisors (or designees) are expected to make reasonable attempts to contact the employee during this period. However, contact alone does not excuse the absence.

Voluntary Resignation (Faculty)

Reference: BOR Policy 08.03.04.01 Voluntary Resignation by Faculty

POLICY AT A GLANCE: Any faculty members employed under written contract for the fiscal or academic year shall give at least 60 calendar days written notice of their intention to resign to the direct supervisor as well as the President of the institution or his or her designee.

- Any faculty member who is absent for ten consecutive working days without authorization and cannot provide a satisfactory explanation will be considered to have abandoned their job or resigned.
- Supervisors (or designees) are expected to make reasonable attempts to contact the employee during this period. However, contact alone does not excuse the absence.

Out-Processing

Reference: HRAP 03.21 Resignations

POLICY AT A GLANCE: Employees resigning from their position must submit a letter of resignation to their supervisor. The supervisor must forward the letter to HR/EOD.

Employees moving to a new position in a different department within VSU or to another institution within the USG must submit a letter; however, it must indicate that the employee will be transferring to a new department or institution.

PROCEDURES:

Ongoing Email Access

Reference: Information Technology FAQs

POLICY AT A GLANCE: For business continuity, the University may need to maintain access to VSU mailboxes of former employees or transfers to capture email requests that have been sent and to redirect VSU matters to the appropriate people. As such, former employees or transfers who are also alumni and who worked in sensitive or highly confidential areas, involuntarily separated with the university, or resigned in lieu of termination will be given new email accounts in which to utilize.

PROCEDURES:

1. Alumni Email Access

- For alumni graduating Fall 2025 and beyond, VSU will maintain access to their Microsoft 365 email account for 1-year post-graduation.
- After the one-year period, the alumni email account will be disabled.
- For alumni who graduated in Spring 2025 or earlier, their current VSU email access will continue until June 2026.
- Access can only be restored if the alum:
 - Re-enrolls as an active VSU student, or
 - Becomes a VSU employee
- This policy does not affect current retirees—their access remains under existing terms.

2. Former Employee (Non-Alumni/Non-Retiree) Access

- When a VSU employee separates (unless they qualify as a retiree or active student), they will lose access to all email and related services within 30–45 days after separation (or as otherwise determined by IT/Policy).
- When possible, they will be given 14 calendar days to capture and save any personal folders or items from their mailbox before deactivation.
- Backup or migration of personal data should be their responsibility during that window.

3. Employees transitioning out of sensitive roles will be given a different VSU email.

POLICY AT A GLANCE: USG employees that separate voluntarily or involuntarily from employment with the USG will receive one of three rehire eligibility designations as follows:

- Eligible for Rehire
- Ineligible for Rehire
- Conditional

A designation into one of the three categories will be made regardless of the separation reason (resignation, retirement, discharge, job abandonment or other). Employees must be notified in writing, at the point of separation or as soon as reasonably possible, if they receive a conditional or ineligible for rehire designation and may appeal their rehire status through established institutional procedures. Employees designated as eligible for rehire do not need to be notified of this designation.

PROCEDURES

1. Initiation of the Rehire Review

The Chief Human Resources Officer (CHRO) leads the rehire eligibility review for all separating employees. The review may begin:

- As part of the normal separation process.
- Following a recommendation from the employee's supervisor.
- Based on information received by HR/EOD through an investigation, disciplinary matter, resignation, job abandonment, or other employment action.

A supervisor's recommendation is not required for the CHRO to initiate the review.

2. Review of the Separation

The CHRO will review the circumstances surrounding the employee's separation and may consult with the supervisor, Legal Affairs, the University System Office, or other appropriate individuals.

The review may include:

- The reason for separation.
- Relevant performance, conduct, attendance, or disciplinary records.
- Pending or completed investigations.
- Whether the employee provided appropriate notice and completed required out-processing.
- The seriousness and frequency of documented concerns.
- Applicable BOR, USG, and VSU policies.
- Rehire designations assigned in comparable circumstances.

Supervisors and other responsible parties must provide requested information and documentation to support the review.

3. Available Rehire Designations

Each separating employee will receive one of the following designations:

- Eligible for Rehire: The employee may be considered for future USG employment through the normal application and selection process.

- Conditional: The employee may be considered for future employment only after the circumstances of the prior separation are reviewed and any established conditions are satisfied.
- Ineligible for Rehire: The employee may not be considered for future USG employment unless the designation is changed through the applicable review or appeal process.

A rehire designation does not guarantee future employment or selection for a position.

4. Recommendation from the Supervisor

When a supervisor recommends a Conditional or Ineligible for Rehire designation, the supervisor must:

- Contact the CHRO before communicating the proposed designation to the employee.
- Explain the basis for the recommendation.
- Provide all relevant supporting documentation.
- Participate in any additional review requested by the CHRO.

The supervisor's recommendation will be considered as part of the overall review but does not limit the CHRO's responsibility to evaluate all relevant information.

5. Final Determination and System Office Request

After completing the review and any necessary consultation, the supervisor will make the final institutional determination regarding the appropriate rehire designation.

The supervisor will also submit any required request to the University System Office. The CHRO will coordinate the process, prepare or review the supporting documentation, and work with the supervisor, Legal Affairs, and the University System Office as necessary.

The proposed designation must not be communicated as final until all required reviews and approvals have been completed.

6. Conditional Designations

A Conditional designation may be appropriate when the circumstances do not support an Ineligible for Rehire designation but require additional review before the individual may be rehired.

The documentation must identify:

- The reason for the Conditional designation.
- The concern that must be reviewed before reemployment.
- Any conditions that must be satisfied before the individual may be considered for rehire.

If an individual with a Conditional designation applies for a position, the hiring department must contact the CHRO before proceeding with an interview, offer, or appointment. The CHRO will review the prior separation, consult with the appropriate parties, and determine whether the individual may proceed in the hiring process.

7. Ineligible for Rehire Designations

An Ineligible for Rehire designation may be considered when supported by serious or documented circumstances, including misconduct, policy violations, dishonesty, workplace safety concerns, job abandonment, or other conduct materially inconsistent with continued USG employment.

The determination will be made on a case-by-case basis. A resignation submitted during an investigation or disciplinary process does not prevent VSU from completing its review or pursuing an appropriate rehire designation.

The CHRO will coordinate any required consultation with Legal Affairs and submission to the University System Office.

8. Employee Notification

Employees designated as Conditional or Ineligible for Rehire must be notified in writing at the time of separation or as soon as reasonably possible after the designation becomes final.

The CHRO will coordinate the written notification, which will include:

- The assigned designation.
- A brief explanation of the basis for the designation.
- The effective date.
- Instructions and the deadline for submitting an appeal.

Employees designated as Eligible for Rehire are not required to receive written notice.

9. Appeal of a Rehire Designation

An employee may appeal a Conditional or Ineligible for Rehire designation by submitting a written appeal to the CHRO within 10 business days of receiving the notice.

The appeal should identify:

- The designation being challenged.
- The reason the employee believes the designation should be changed.
- Any relevant information or documentation that was not previously considered.

The CHRO will coordinate the review of the appeal and may consult with the supervisor, Legal Affairs, the University System Office, or another appropriate institutional official. The employee will receive written notice of the final decision.

10. Changes to a Designation

A rehire designation may be reconsidered when:

- An appeal is granted.
- New or corrected information becomes available.
- The conditions associated with a Conditional designation have been satisfied.
- A review identifies a need to ensure consistency with policy or comparable cases.

The CHRO will coordinate the review and any required request to the University System Office. Any change must be documented and entered into the appropriate personnel system and employment record.

11. Confidentiality and Employment Inquiries

Supervisors and departments must refer questions concerning an employee's rehire eligibility to the CHRO or HR/EOD. Rehire designations must not be disclosed or discussed outside an authorized separation, hiring, employment verification, appeal, or institutional review process.

12. Recordkeeping

HR/EOD will retain the rehire designation, supporting documentation, employee notification, University System Office correspondence, appeal materials, and final decision in accordance with applicable records-retention requirements.

PAYROLL & COMPENSATION

Time Reporting & Pay Periods

Reference: HRAP, Time and Leave Reporting

POLICY AT A GLANCE: In compliance with University System of Georgia (USG) policies, the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and the Affordable Care Act (ACA), institutions are responsible for maintaining accurate daily work time records for all non-exempt employees and all part-time employees. Institutions must also maintain records of all absences (whether paid or unpaid) on both nonexempt and exempt employees (including faculty).

PROCEDURES:

1. Bi-Weekly Employees (Non-Exempt)

- Record all actual hours worked in OneUSG for each pay period.
- Follow the official workweek of Sunday through Saturday.
- Seek supervisor approval prior to working hours over the standard 40 hours.
- Depending on departmental policy, if you work more than 40 hours a week, you will either:
 - Accrue compensatory time, or
 - Receive overtime pay.
- Document all absences and leave requests in the system of record, (e.g., OneUSG).

2. Monthly Employees (Exempt)

- Document all absences and leave requests in the system of record, (e.g., OneUSG).
- Note that you are not eligible for overtime or compensatory time.

3. Applies to All Employees (Informational Purposes)

- Your pay is subject to all required state and federal taxes and deductions such as insurance and retirement.
- Direct Deposit is required for all employees.
- Make all benefit enrollments and employment changes through OneUSG.
- Always access OneUSG securely:
 - From a hardwired campus computer, or
 - Through the Virtual Labs platform (available through IT).
- For assistance with Virtual Labs, contact the IT Helpdesk at 229-245-4357.

Compensatory Time & Overtime

Reference: HRAP 02.16 Workweek and Overtime

POLICY AT A GLANCE: The federal Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended, establishes minimum wage rates, maximum work hours, overtime pay requirements, equal pay standards and child labor restrictions for employees subject to its provisions. This document establishes USG policy in areas not covered by the FLSA or in which the FLSA allows for alternative methods of compliance.

PROCEDURES:

1. Non-Exempt (Biweekly) Employees

- Track all hours worked each week in OneUSG.
- Identify if overtime applies:
 - Overtime begins after 40 hours worked in a week.
 - Holidays or absences do not count toward the 40-hour threshold.
- Understand that your department may provide compensatory time (comp time) instead of overtime pay.
 - Compensatory time accrues at time and a half for hours worked beyond 40.
- Vacation leave requests submitted in the system of record (e.g., OneUSG) will use accrued comp time first, consistent with the system's cascading leave rules.
- Monitor your compensatory time balance:
 - The maximum accrual is 240 hours.
 - Any hours that exceed this limit will be paid out by the institution annually.

2. Exempt (Monthly) Employees

- According to FLSA rules, exempt employees do not accrue overtime pay or comp time.
- Tracking time is only required for leave reporting, not for overtime purposes.

Each member of the USG community is responsible for doing his or her part by upholding the highest standards of personnel conduct.

Employees are expected to comply with professional standards, University policies, departmental expectations, and the institution's core values. Corrective action should be applied consistently while considering the seriousness of the conduct, the employee's history, relevant circumstances, and whether prior corrective action has been effective.

Amorous Relationships

Reference: HRAP 04.01 Amorous Relationships

POLICY AT A GLANCE: Employees may not engage in amorous relationships with employees who hold positions of unequal power. The same is true for faculty members, to include, graduate teaching assistants, who have amorous relationships with students they teach or evaluate or whose terms of education or employment they could directly affect. Such relationships create inherent conflicts of interest and lead to complaints of favoritism, decreased employee morale, mistrust by colleagues, complaints of undue access and, claims of sexual harassment, and other negative implications for the work environment.

PROCEDURES:

1. Employee Disclosure

- All VSU employees, including graduate students, must promptly report if they are asked to evaluate, supervise, or make decisions regarding a USG employee or student with whom they:
 - Are currently involved in an amorous relationship, or
 - Have previously been involved in such a relationship.
- Disclosures should be made immediately upon awareness of the potential conflict.

2. Reporting Violations

- Employees or students who believe in good faith that a violation of this policy has occurred should promptly report it through the institution's established reporting process.
- Reports may be made to the Office of HR/EOD, the Title IX Office, or the Office of Ethics and Compliance, depending on the situation.

Appearance

Reference: BOR Policy 08.02.18 Personnel Conduct

POLICY AT A GLANCE: Professionalism as an educational institution is reflected in the appearance and manner of our faculty, staff, and employees. Consequently, it is necessary to maintain and enhance the University's image.

Since Valdosta State University and the University System of Georgia do not have a dress code policy in the place, individual divisions or academic departments are responsible for setting guidelines on dress attire in the workplace. Supervisors have the responsibility to share their expectations for appearance to all their employees. Supervisors have the right to identify incidents where employees are inappropriately dressed and take appropriate disciplinary actions.

PROCEDURES:

1. Department supervisors are responsible for establishing and communicating dress expectations appropriate for their operational needs, work environment, safety requirements, and the professional image of the University.
2. Employees are expected to comply with their department's established dress expectations and maintain a professional appearance appropriate for their job duties and responsibilities.
3. Employees whose positions require uniforms, personal protective equipment (PPE), or other specialized attire must wear the required clothing while performing assigned duties.
4. Employees who have questions regarding appropriate attire should consult their supervisor before reporting to work in questionable attire.
5. Employees are encouraged to participate in Blazer Friday by wearing official Valdosta State University apparel or University colors. Participation is subject to departmental dress expectations. Employees whose positions require uniforms, safety attire, personal protective equipment (PPE), or business professional attire must continue to comply with those requirements unless otherwise approved by their supervisor.

Outside Employment Activities

Reference: HRAP 04.02 Conflicts of Interest, Conflicts of Commitment and Outside Activities

POLICY AT A GLANCE: The purpose of policy is to provide additional guidance to USG employees regarding BOR 8.2.18.2 to include the approval process for compensated outside activities and the disclosure of conflicts of interest, conflicts of commitment, and outside activities. An employee shall make every reasonable effort to avoid even the appearance of a conflict of interest. An appearance of conflict exists when a reasonable person will conclude from the circumstances that an employee's ability to protect the public interest, or perform public duties, is compromised by personal interest. An appearance of conflict can exist even in the absence of a legal conflict of interest.

PROCEDURES:

1. Employees seeking approval to engage in outside employment or professional practice must:

- Complete the Online Form
 - Access the Outside Employment/Consulting Request Form online here.

Workplace Conflicts & Dispute Resolution

Reference: HRAP 04.04 Dispute Resolution

POLICY AT A GLANCE: In the day-to-day operation of any office or department, problems and misunderstandings may occur. If left unresolved, serious personnel problems might result. While consideration, cooperation, and common sense can resolve most of these situations, a few require special attention. It is the policy of the University to resolve disputes fairly, and at the lowest possible level.

PROCEDURES FOR EMPLOYEES:

1. Employee-to-Employee Conflict

- Attempt to resolve the issue directly with the other employee.
- If resolution is not possible, contact your supervisor or HR/EOD for support and guidance.

2. Employee-to-Student Conflict

- Contact the Student Conduct Office to report and address the issue.

3. Employee-to-Supervisor Conflict

- Make every reasonable effort to resolve concerns through open and respectful communication with your supervisor.
- If the issue cannot be resolved or concerns remain, promptly elevate the matter to the next level of supervision or contact HR/EOD for guidance and assistance.
- If you believe that the work-related instructions are unlawful, violate University or Board of Regents policy, or create a significant health or safety risk, contact HR/EOD for guidance.

Grievance Policy

Reference: HRAP 04.07 Grievance Policy

POLICY AT A GLANCE: The University System of Georgia is committed to providing a good working environment for its faculty and staff. It is the policy of the University System of Georgia to resolve these disputes fairly, and at the lowest possible level. When conflicts or disagreements occur, employees should first attempt to resolve them through discussion with their supervisor. Attempted resolution may be addressed through the Grievance/Disciplinary Review Process, if applicable.

A grievance or disciplinary review will be available to handle claims that a person has been harmed by any action that violates the policies of either the institution or the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia (“the Board of Regents”) or for requested disciplinary review pursuant to the University System policy, entitled Dismissal, Demotion or Suspension.

PROCEDURES:

1. Determine Whether the Matter Is Eligible for Review

An employee may file a grievance alleging that an employment action or decision violated an institutional or Board of Regents policy. An employee may also request a disciplinary review after:

- Suspension
- Discharge
- Demotion
- Salary reduction

The grievance or disciplinary review process is generally not available when:

- The employee was discharged during the provisional period.
- The action resulted from a reorganization, program modification, or financial exigency. The employee may instead request review by the Board of Regents, when permitted.
- The matter involves discrimination, harassment, or retaliation covered by another institutional process. Such concerns should be reported to HR/EOD.
- The matter has already been reviewed through an applicable institutional administrative process.

Employees who are unsure whether a matter is eligible may contact HR/EOD for guidance.

2. Attempt Informal Resolution, When Appropriate

Before filing a grievance, employees should attempt to resolve the concern with their immediate supervisor or the next appropriate level of management when practical.

Informal resolution is not required when:

- The concern involves the employee’s supervisor.
- The matter involves suspension, discharge, demotion, or salary reduction.
- Attempting informal resolution would be inappropriate under the circumstances.
- The filing deadline could expire before informal efforts are completed.

Attempts at informal resolution do not extend the applicable filing deadline unless HR/EOD confirms an extension in writing.

3. File the Grievance in Writing

A grievance or request for disciplinary review must be submitted in writing to the Chief Human Resources/Employee and Organizational Development Officer. No specific form is required.

The written grievance should include:

- The employee's name, job title, department, and contact information.
- The employment action, decision, or conduct being challenged.
- The date the employee received notice of the action or became aware of the concern.
- The institutional or Board of Regents policy believed to have been violated, if known.
- A clear explanation of the relevant facts and circumstances.
- The names of individuals who may have relevant information.
- Copies of any supporting documents.
- A description of any efforts made to resolve the matter informally.
- The specific remedy or resolution requested.
- The employee's signature and the date submitted.

Not knowing the specific policy involved does not prevent an employee from filing a grievance. The employee should describe the concern and provide enough information for HR/EOD to evaluate it.

4. Meet the Filing Deadline

A request for disciplinary review involving suspension, discharge, demotion, or salary reduction must be filed within ten working days after the employee receives notice of the action.

If a grievance is submitted after the applicable deadline, the employee must include a written explanation for the delay. The CHRO will determine whether good cause exists to accept the late filing.

5. Initial Review by HR/EOD

The CHRO or designee will review the submission to determine whether:

- It was filed within the applicable deadline.
- The matter is eligible for consideration under this process.
- Sufficient information has been provided.
- Another institutional procedure is more appropriate.
- Additional information or clarification is needed.

HR/EOD will notify the employee whether the grievance has been accepted, referred to another process, returned for additional information, or determined to be ineligible.

6. Review and Hearing Process

If an eligible request for disciplinary review is accepted, the employee will be provided an opportunity for review by a Board of Review in accordance with applicable institutional and Board of Regents procedures.

The hearing may occur before or after the effective date of the personnel action being challenged. HR/EOD will provide the employee with information regarding the hearing process, applicable deadlines, and any additional requirements.

Investigations

POLICY AT A GLANCE: Employees of the University System of Georgia must fully cooperate with any internal investigation authorized by the institution's President and conducted by designated investigators. Internal investigations will be conducted only by those authorized by the President or designated leadership. The investigator must ensure that the process protects due process rights and is conducted in the best interest of the institution. - Failure to cooperate without a legitimate reason may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

2. Protect the Integrity of the Investigation

- Employees are expected not to interfere with the investigation, influence the statements of others, coordinate responses, intimidate or retaliate against participants, conceal or destroy evidence, or otherwise obstruct the process.
- Employees are encouraged to use professional discretion when discussing an ongoing investigation to protect the privacy of those involved and the integrity of the process.
- Nothing in this procedure prohibits an employee from discussing workplace concerns, seeking advice or support, reporting possible misconduct, participating in a protected activity, or exercising any right provided by law or University System of Georgia policy.

3. Respond to Notification

- The investigator will notify you of allegations involving you when appropriate and provide sufficient information for you to respond.
- The timing and level of detail provided may vary based on the circumstances, including the need to preserve evidence, protect participants, or avoid compromising the investigation.
- Respond promptly and within any reasonable deadline established by the investigator. If additional time is needed, contact the investigator as soon as possible.

4. Present Your Position

- You will have a reasonable opportunity to explain your position and respond to the matters under review.
- Provide all relevant facts, documents, witness information, and other evidence available to you.
- Additional meetings may be scheduled if clarification or follow-up information is needed.

5. Be Honest and Accurate

- Provide truthful, complete, and accurate information to the best of your knowledge.
- If you later realize that information you provided was incomplete or inaccurate, notify the investigator promptly.
- Knowingly providing false information, concealing material information, or withholding relevant evidence may result in disciplinary action.

6. Follow Reasonable Investigative Instructions

- Comply with reasonable requests for documents, records, interviews, meetings, and preservation of relevant information.
- Do not alter, delete, conceal, or destroy records or other information that may be relevant to the investigation.
- Ask the investigator or HR/EOD for clarification if you do not understand a request or believe it may conflict with a legal right, policy, or other obligation.

7. Witnesses and Other Participants

- Witnesses and other participants are expected to provide factual, objective, and complete information.
- Employees should use professional discretion and respect the privacy of others while the investigation is pending.
- Employees may discuss the matter or seek assistance as permitted by law and policy, but they must not retaliate against participants, pressure others regarding their statements, coordinate testimony, or interfere with the investigation.
- Participants may be asked to attend additional interviews or provide supplemental information.

8. Nonretaliation

- Retaliation against anyone who makes a good-faith report, participates in an investigation, provides information, or exercises a protected right is prohibited.
- Concerns about retaliation, intimidation, or interference should be reported promptly to HR/EOD or another appropriate University official.

9. Await the Outcome

- The investigator will gather and evaluate relevant facts and evidence before reaching findings or providing an investigative report.
- Findings will be shared with appropriate administrators and others who have a legitimate institutional need to know.
- The appropriate administrator will determine what follow-up or corrective action, if any, is warranted.
- Participants may not receive every detail about the findings or actions involving another employee because of privacy and personnel considerations.

10. Ask for Support or Clarification

- Contact HR/EOD for information about the investigative process, applicable rights and responsibilities, available support resources, or clarification of a request.
- Employees may also seek advice, representation, or other assistance available to them under applicable law or University System of Georgia policy.
