

October 26, 5-7pm
Annette Howell Turner
Center for the Arts
527 N Patterson St
Valdosta, GA

This event is free and open to the public.

We are grateful to the Annette Howell Turner Center for the Arts, and Snake Nation Press for their generous provisions of venue and food for this event.

“Mayan food today: An Exploration of the Mayan influence on Modern Hispanic and American Cuisine.”

Dr. Adolfo Carrillo-Cabello, Asst. Professor of Spanish in Modern and Classical Languages along with our sponsors, Snake Nation Press and the Annette Howell Turner Center for the Arts, will host an exploration of the Maya influence on Modern Hispanic and American cuisine. Dr. Carrillo-Cabello of MCL will give a lesson on the traditional making of tortillas in Mexico, and Chef Tommy Hernandez will teach us how to make empanadas. Participants from the Latin American Student Association (LASA), Modern and Classical Languages, and others from VSU, will contribute to the sampling with foods made with the sacred corn, and other ingredients. Guests will be able to sample the dishes while learning more about corn, and the Maya influence on our diet and our lives. This event is free and open to the public.

Maya God of Corn

Sponsored by the Department of Modern and Classical Languages

<http://www.valdosta.edu/mcl/hhm2012/index.shtml>